the university's foundation.
The gift is valued at $1.3 million.
SIUE officials and donor B. Barnard "Barney" Birger announced the Dec. 31 gift at
"This is really good news," said Chancellor David Werner. "This is a really significant event for the university. The gift of property will be used to build a foundation/alumni services center, which we will name in honor of Mr. Birger."
The gift is the second largest to be donated on the stafe's Capital Development Board, which oversees construction of new public buildings and building improvements.
Birger's property at 4 Hillitop Lane is partly wooded and has a lake, pool, and basketbull and tennis courts. There also is a 7,000-square-foot home with gymnasium.

Birger is chairman of BBB Companies Inc.

He is on the board of directors of Mercantile Bank of St. Louis. Birger also has been on the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial and the St. Louis-Mississippi River Bridges Patche SIUE Foundation board of directors and endowed a Presidential Scholarship.
"I consider SIUE a hometown deal for us;
three of my children attended SIUE," Birger said. He related how various SIUE athletes

"I'm sure SIUE will benefit," he said.
"That's what SIU is all about. It's good, down-to-earth people. You see money that goes into something that really produces.
Birger said the donaton process lasted two years, with BJC Health Systems of St. Louis.

Eye Health Advisory

D.C. Schnellmann, MD - E.A. Doisy, III, MD - W. Y. Chen, MD - M. A. Yates, OD January is Glaucoma Awareness Month

What you need to know about Glaucoma

by D. C. Schnellmann, MD Illinois Eye Specialists

Glaucoma, which affects about two percent of the population, is the leading cause of blindness in the United States. The disease damages the optic nerve and is often associated with increased fluid pressure in the eye. It cannot be cured but can usually be controlled medication. Early diagnosis medical intervention are the keys to preventing blindness.

Are you at risk for developing Glaucoma? Risk factors include: Race (especially African-American and Asian heritage). Age (35 years and older), extreme nearsightedness, a family history of the disease, past injuries to the eye, cardiovascular disease and obesity.

The only way to detect glaucoma is through regular visits to an eye doctor. Make sure you have a yearly eye exam, especially if you have one or more of the risk factors mentioned above. If you would like more information about Glaucoma, or would like to schedule an eye exam, please call one of the Illinois Eye Specialists offices listed below.

John Stordahl assisted on Brett Sollberger's goal as the Illinois Warriors tied Alton 1-1 on Saturday night.

66 That line — John (Stordahl), Brett (Sollberger) and Bobby (Meszaros) — played extremely well. Brett hustled, backchecked and scored a huge goal. John and Brett did a great job of playing both offense and defense. Brett came all the way back to break up a play when the Alton forward had gotten around our defenseman."

Paul Sollberger

The Warriors again had trouble placing their shots on goal.
"Dustin Wesley had a great chance and shot it right into their goalie." Sollberger said. "We had other chances and definitely had the run of play. Late in the second and third periods, we were all over them and dictated play. It was a defensive struggle, a lot of play in the neutral zone."

Craig Mooshegian (275 pounds) had a great tournament, placing sixth for us. Ryan Worthen took third.

"You throw those guys in there, those are huge points for us. If Grammer and Worthen wrestled like that Laura Laura Laura Laura Laura in the Holiday Tournament, we would have won it. When you get a total team effort like that —12 out of 14 guys place — most of the time you are going to win tournaments. If we can do the same thing this week at Genesco, I'm sure we'll win that tournament, too. We have a little momentum, we have to go into it with some enthusiasm and some fight. Hopefully it will make a difference. "

The Warriors' match against Belleville East on Friday night was postponed because of the bad weathers." It has been rescheduled for Jan. 28 at Granite City.

Evans provided backbone for Tigers' offense

Versatile junior named Suburban Journals 1998 Offensive Player of the Year

The success of the Edwardsville football team this past fall had a great deal to do with the football from the football

"We kind of changed our (offensive) philosophy a little bit offensively," Dougherty said. "A lot of factors went into it. Tve always had a fullback-oriented offense, but because of our personnel, we were more tailback-oriented. In order for that system or philosophy to work, our tailback needed to step up, and he did.

"A key to our season was Travis coming through and having the year he had." The breakout year Evans had helped him earn the 1998 Offensive Player of the Year award for the Journal Newspapers of Southern Illinois.

Tailbacks have flourished under Dougherty's system before. Players such as Craig Mayfield and Steffen Nicholson had successful high school careers at Edwardsville. However, with Edwardsville star fullback. Joe Bevis being relied upon to play defensive linebacker this season, Evans had to lighten the load for Bevis.

Evans carried the ball 162 times for the Tigers for 1,293 yards. He helped the Tigers post a 9-1 record and qualify for postseason play for the fourth straight season.

"Travis has more versatility than the other (tailbacks) did," Dougherty said. "He has more foot speed than Mayfield and Nicholson Nicholson.
"It starts with Travis. Travis talents the olson.

starts with Travis. Travis has so many ts that we had a lot of options

The Tigers were plugging away with a 3-0 start before Evans' breakout game in a 45-0 victory against Alton. "He got better as the year went on,"

Dougherty said. "I'me last three games — Belleville East, Collinsville and Naperville Central — it was hard to separate those. He was solid. He just got better."

Evans' teammates voted him the Tigers' best offensive player.

"I think Travis' stats speak for himself and on behalf of the offensive team we had." Dougherty said. "He wouldn't have been player of the year on offense if he played for a bad team."

Wilson made big plays to lead Kahoks so good on that tape he came back and said, 'Who is No. 6? What year is he? Did I miss him? Is he graduating?' He made an impression.

"He is a great competitor with a great attitude. He is a great leader.

"We had a defense this year that — during the regular season — gave up 9.2 points a game and a very solid rushing defense. He was our leader on defense. He was our leader on defense. He was our focal point and people had to worry about him, but we had a lot other people around him doing their job as well, especially the defensive linemen. They were defensive linemen, they were coupy offensive linemen so our linebackers could roam and make big plays."

And Cory Wilson made big plays.

ONCOVER MANAGEMENT NO. 1

List your music gigs in the paper

The Granite City Press-Record's weekly entertainment section will begin publishing a listing of live music venues in the area. "In Concert" will live musical performances in the Granite City area. The listings will be published each Thursday in Granite City Entertainment, the weekly entertainment supplement of the Press-Record.

Local club owners are invited to send information about live music to Concert Scene, Press-Record, 219 N. Illinois, Belleville, Ill., 62220. There is no charge for the listing. Information should include band name, style of music, hours of operation and cover charge information if applicable.

Information should be provided as soon as possible, but no later than one week prior to the issue you wish your information to run.

control fat and sodium. Homemade soup not only tastes great, but usually is more economical than commercially-made cans and jars.

Fat can be removed from homemade soup by preparing it a day in advance, then chilling it overnight in the refrigerator. This lets fat rise to the top and harden, so it easy to remove. To finish the soup, add spices, vegetables, rice or pasta. Soup is a perfect place to put leftovers still fresh in the refrigerator.

If rich cream soups are preferred, try making them from a basic white sauce of flour, margarine and skim milk. Add pureed or chopped vegetables, seafood and favorite herbs and spices. Even if favorite recipes yield large quantities, fix hem.

Roasting beef in microwave results in meal as juicy and tasty as anything from oven

By Kathy Hanewinkel Correspondent

The most popular use of a microwave oven is to reheat leftovers. On the other end of its uses is cooking meat. Far too many people are afraid to try to cook meat in the appliance.

They heard it does not brown. They heard it gets tough. Neither is true.

I love meat from the microwave. It's quick. It's brown. It's tender. It tastes like meat. And it's easy.

incrowave. It's quick. It's brown. It's tender. It tastes like meat. And it's easy.

The path to success is following conventional cooking's principles.

If the cut of meat is a less tender one that needs to be cooked in liquid, it should be done the same way in a microwave oven.

The amount of liquid depends on the recipe. Some cuts, like for stew, may need total immersion in a liquid. Also, just as with conventional cooking of less, tender cuts, these cuts should cook tightly covered, using either a lid, plastic wrap or a cooking bag. The stem of the cooking of less, tender cuts, these cuts should cook tightly covered, using either a lid, plastic wrap or a cooking bag. The commend startes people, but it works well. Carefully cover the top only of the productor container with aluminum foil. This redirects microwaves to the bottom and prevents the top from overcooking. It also tends to even out the cooking. The foil must be more than one inch away from any part of the oven.

The meat should be rearranged and turned over for even cooking. To duplicate the slow cooking of less tender cuts, power levels should be about medium (50 percent).

A frozen roast should be fully thawed power levels should be about medium (50 percent).

A frozen roast should be fully thawed before cooking in a microwave oven Nearly every microwave cookbook has a defrosting guide. A microwave meat thermometer is helpful, although not essential. The temperature should read 125 degrees for rare, 145 degrees for medium and 155 degrees for well done. This is roughly 15 degrees less than conventional temperatures. Roasts, like all large, dense items, should stand, covered, about 10 minutes before slicing or serving. During this time, they continue to cook by conduction of heat and internal temperature rises 10 to 15 degrees. Weight of the meat by volume and density affects microwave cooking time.

The larger the roast (the more food), the longer it takes to cook.
Less obvious is the cut. Results here are based on the principles of meat and protein cookery. The tougher and less tender the cut, the lower the power level that should be used to cook it. Tougher cuts—such as arm, chuck and round roasts—also require moist heat cooking methods in the microwave, just like they do conventionally.
Here are other tips:
Season meat to taste, just like conventionally, but salt after cooking to avoid dryness.

venuonally, but salt after cooking to avoid dryness.

"Cover with aluminum foil during the 10-minute standing time.

"Large roasts more than 10 pounds in weight take at least as long to microwave as they do to cook conventionally.

"Shield parts that stick out on the stick of the stick of the stick of the stick out of the stick

"Shield parts that stick out or up with small pieces of aluminum foil that do not touch the top or sides of the appliance.
"Turn over meat after the first setting, and again about halfway through the second setting. Lastly turn it as it enters the standing time under the foil.
"Cook the cuts listed below covered with waxed paper. Cook tougher cuts (arm, chuck and round) tightly covered and in some liquid. If covering with aluminum foil, cover only the top.

MICROWAVE GUIDE TO ROAST MEAT

Rib Roast: Five to 10 minutes on high power; then on medium-high (70 percent) power, allowing 7 to 9 minutes a pound for rare, 9 to 11 minutes per pound for medium or 12 to 13 minutes per pound for well done.

Sirloin Tp: Start on high power for 5 minutes. Cook at medium-high (70 percent) power 8 to 9 minutes per pound for rare, 10 to 11 minutes per pound for medium or 12 to 13 minutes per pound for well done.

Rump Roast: Cook 5 to 10 minutes at medium-high (70 percent) power. Reduce power to medium (50 percent) and cook 11 to 12 minutes per pound for rare, 13 to 14 minutes per pound for medium or 15 to 16 minutes per pound for medium or 15 to 16 minutes per pound for medium or 15 to 16 minutes per pound for medium or 15 to 16 minutes per pound for well done.

Water sets fluid course so good health stays afloat

By Carol Schlitt Correspondent

Every year Americans spend billions of dollars on their health. Yet, many completely overlook one of the most important health factors of all — water.

The cornerstone of good health includes nutritious foods, wise ways body loses.

• Illnesses like colds and flu tend to increase water losses, especially if accompanied by fever, vomiting and diarrhea. That's why anyone sick is encouraged "to get plenty of fluids" when ill.

• No other liquid replaces body fluid better than water. Caffeine-containing beverages — such as coffee, tea and soda — as well as alcohol, actually accerate fluid actually accerate fluid actually accerate fluid still, thirst is not always a sufficient indicator of water need. As a person ages, the mechanism that normally triggers thirst becomes less sensitive. Thus, people need to drink water whether they are thirsty or not.

• Drinking water aids weight loss. It can reduce appetite and helps eliminate retained body liquid.

To help get 64 fluid

To help get 64 fluid ounces of water each day, carry a 32-ounce plastic squeeze bottle of water to work and refill it once to achieve the goal of eight 8-ounce glasses. At home put a 2-quart container of water in the refrigerator or on the counter each morning. Take several drinks during the day so the container is empty by bedtime.

How can Tuse broth? Let me count the ways

Canned broth can be a helpful item to keep on hand, testers said, although several use it judiciously because of its high sodium. Five different specialty broths taken home to test as representative of the wide variety of canned broths available. They were in Swanson, Sweet Sue and College Inn flavors. Each cost less than $1. Swanson's seasoned broths in flavors of roasted garlic and Italian herbs played to compliments. Each of the two varieties has 0.5 grams fat and 950 milligrams sodium per 1-cup serving, with a 14½-counce can holding almost two servings. Both were tested in recipes where the flavors easily meshed, so other extra ingredients, like salt and seasonings, were unnecessary.

unnecessary.

The tester used the roasted garlic flavor in a baked chicken and rice casserole. The original recipe called for 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon salt for seasoning the meat and the rice mixtures. The control of the salt in the rest of the dish.

"The roasted garlic flavor replaced the onion and I used minimal salt, as well as paprika and thyme in the recipe. It was well received by my family and the garlic was not overpowering either," she said

NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

re you experiencing a bit of cabin fever and just itching to get yard, cold weather and all? If that's the case, we don't want to disappoint you. So here are a few beneficial tasks that can be taken care of during this frigid month.

Take a stroll around the garden and make sure bulbs and perennials haven't been heaved out of the ground by repeated freezing and thawing. If the soil isn't frozen, try to gently press the plant back into the soil. Add mulch to prevent further heaving.

Make sure all your mulches and windbreaks are securely in place.

If you discover that a fruit tree has been damaged by mice or rabbits, place a wire mesh guard around the lower portion of the trunk.

Check any bulbs you may have stored for the winter for decay or dry rot. If you find any soft or rotted bulbs, discard them.

Branches that have been damaged by snow or ice should be pruned out the first chance you get.

Store bird feed outdoors a sturdy plastic, metal or lass containers to avoid insect and rodent problems. This will also help keep the seed fresh.

Keep bird feeders full. Birds that have been accustomed to visiting your feeder depend on it now more than ever.

Avoid walking on frozen Avoid walking on frozen lawns. If you must do so, vary your path slightly, so the same area deesn't take the brunt of the punishment and wear down.

Take a survey of your garden tools. Now's an excellent time to clean and sharpen them. While you're at it, open up the garage door and let your lawn mower run a bit. If it's a bit suggish, you have plenty of time for repairs.

When clearing snow from the driveway, clear a little bit extra (about the width of a snow shovel) from the or a snow snovel) from the grass along the side where you exit the car. This way you can avoid stepping in ankle-deep snow with your good shoes on. Turn the shovel upside down and use it like a squeegee to remove snow from the lawn.

Keep plenty of ice-melting crystals on hand. You never know when you'll need it. Slippery porches and steps are treacherous.

Tie upright evergreens such as arborvitae to protect from heavy snow loads.

Check vines in the garden to be sure that the winter winds haven't loosened them from their supports.

Christmas cactus can be kept in high light throughout the winter. Once spring arrives, move the plant into medium light. Christmas cactus can be

Keep poinsettias in a cool area, preferably near windows that receive high light. Avoid excessive temperature fluctuations, and don't let the leaves actually touch the glass.

Wood ashes from your fireplace make a great soil amendment if used in moderation. They act much like lime. When the soil thaws, spread them on your vegetable garden to raise the pH. The ashes also provide trace elements. Don't use the residue from artificial lire. residue from artificial fire logs, however.
